The national problem of graffiti vandalism severely impacts public transportation agencies – costing millions of dollars and thousands of man-hours to combat each year.

A VALUE-ADDED WINDOW OF OPPORTUNITY

The national problem of graffiti vandalism severely impacts public transportation agencies – costing millions of dollars and thousands of man-hours to repair each year. Painting, marking and scratching are occurring to such an extent that transportation agencies are forced to replace thousands of windows each year.

After extensive research, the cost-effective Glass Guard™ and "3-Minute" window products were developed to combat graffiti. These patented products are now installed in hundreds of locations throughout the USA and Canada.

All Ricon "Rapid Replacement" window products meet or exceed government and state standards.

The Ricon "Rapid Replacement" system uses an exclusive patented metal retainer system to securely fix the glass or other material into the bus window frame. No more fighting with rubber grommets that can take up to 60 minutes to remove before replacing a window pane that has been damaged or marked with graffiti.
